

I have worked with Steve in the offices of Alpine Chapel for several years through high school and college, and for several years afterward in a volunteer capacity, designing message themes, videos, skits, dramas, and other random parts of church life - Steve is a wry, intelligent professional who knows how to get the job done as quickly as possible, but takes the time to make a quality product. I envy the church, organization, or business that gets to work with him in the future.
